MEDICAL MARIJUANA INFORMATION BULLETIN 2017-03

Subject: Notification of New type of 30 day receipt from Patients

The Oregon Medical Marijuana Program (OMMP) has developed a new online application for patients to apply for their medical marijuana registration identification card. This new online application produces a 30 day receipt that patients may use to enter a dispensary or retail shop while they wait for their OMMP card. Due to this option for patients to apply online, there will be two different 30 day receipt formats a dispensary or retail shop may accept from medical registry cardholder applicants.

The existing 30 day receipt is a watermarked letter on Oregon Health Authority letterhead that includes the patient's name, temporary ID number and the effective and expiration date of the 30 day receipt. The new 30 day receipt will be generated and able to be printed after a patient completes an online application. The online receipt includes the information indicated below. Please note these specific areas on the receipt:

1. The applicant's name.
2. The effective and expiration date of the 30 day receipt.
3. A random computer generated Temporary ID that contains a mix of letters and numbers.

The temporary ID can be entered into the "Card Verification" found in your online MMD account. If the card is valid the system will say "This is a valid Patient Card Id" and if the card is expired or deactivated it will say "The entered Patient Card Id does not match any known active Patients on record."

4. As another option, the QR or bar code can be scanned instead of using the card verification in your MMD account. The same messages will be received as when you use your MMD account, "This is a valid Patient Card Id" or "The entered Patient Card Id does not match any known active Patients on record".

The OMMP has the ability to deactivate the temporary card at any time so it is important to scan the 30 day receipt each time it is presented. OLCC retail shops must use the temporary ID number for reporting the transfer of marijuana items to the patient as proof of no tax for the Department of Revenue. Medical Dispensaries must use the temporary ID number to report the transfer in the same manner they would a patient registry identification number.

Remember that you will continue to receive both the letter and this new version of the receipt as some applicants will apply through the mail and others will begin using the online option.
