

We Are Going Paperless (Almost)

Sometime this fall, ORELAP will discontinue our huge paper application and labs will be expected apply electronically on-line. Please check this site for further details as they become available.

In addition to the application form, we will expect laboratories to send any other documents required by ORELAP in an electronic format, submitted either on a disk or scanned and submitted by email. This will be true for corrective action plans with accompanying substantiating documentation.

However, hardcopy fee invoices will still continue to be sent to laboratories for payment although the format will be different. Also, for secondary accreditation, until such time as we can download a lab's accreditation status directly from the national database, we will accept proof of primary accreditation any way the primary accrediting body is able to send it to us, either electronically or as hardcopy.
