

CONTINUING EDUCATION CLASSES BEING OFFERED STATEWIDE

(Updated March 2011)

The following is a list of web sites and contact information to assist you in obtaining your continuing education for your EMT recertification. Most Oregon EMS agencies will allow unaffiliated EMTs to take the continuing education classes with their EMTs.

List of Oregon Ambulance Agencies

Please contact local ambulance services and inquire about upcoming continuing education classes being offered that you could attend.

Mobile Training Unit

Leslie Huntington provides training for rural Oregon. You may view her training schedule if you are interested in a class being offered. Please contact her for class availability and to ensure that the class has not been cancelled. Leslie's contact information is on her web site. Please put the name of the class in the subject matter if you email her at:

leslie.d.huntington@state.or.us

Your agency can also contact her for scheduling future training in your area.

Trauma Club

Monthly trauma case reviews at the Lorenzen Conference Center, Emanuel Hospital, will be presented the second Thursday of each month. Please register by email at Christopher.Verkest@emsc.net or by calling (503) 736-3484. Everyone is welcome, including walk-ins and there is no fee charged.

ONLINE CONTINUING EDUCATION

The EMS office endorses CECBEMS or National Registry approved on-line continuing education. These courses have been approved by a medical director, requires a test for the EMT to take, and provides a certificate if the EMT successfully passes the test.

Continuing Education Coordinating Board Of Emergency Medical Services (CECBEMS)

CECBEMS offers a variety of courses on-line that are both approved for National Registry certification and for Oregon.
